This book is filled with glorious photos of pillow groupings, many with exuberant animal prints, that are sure to inspire you or validate your taste. For the modest price of this book and a few hours of studying Barclay's eye catching rooms, you can absorb many of the author's design principles for mixing color, scale and print when selecting fabrics for pillows on sofas, chairs, and beds.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Talented guy!By H. BellI really enjoy Barclay Butera books and I adore his beautiful, crisp, updated traditional style. The photos are lovely and inspiring and I enjoy looking at his books over and over again. I have to chuckle though at his constant plugging for his furniture line. You'll see "by Barclay Butera Home..." "from Barclay Butera Home..." about a hundred times!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful.

Great book for home decorating book junkieBy DedicatedGreat book. Beautiful pictures! Very little text, like that. Nice variety as well. Highly recommend it even if you have a large collection of books as I do.

From the Inside FlapRenowned interior designer and entrepreneur Barclay Butera takes his distinctive style on a journey through the seasons, showcasing a collection of picturesque retreats and scenic getaways, each unique to spring, summer, fall or winter. A day tripper at heart, Butera draws on his own travels and experiences to create stunning sanctuaries that range from stylishly rustic log cabins to gracefully chic beach cottages, always demonstrating his philosophy that no matter how far ones love for travel takes them, a destination should always feel like a home away from home. Barclay Butera is known for his unique yet assertive taste, and while his style has evolved over the years, one thing remains the same: his firm belief in helping clients achieve the Better-Best concept of living. He is greatly influenced by his world travels and also feels strongly about combining old with new, often mixing a few of his clients heritage pieces into his designs. His understanding the art of creating fashion for the home while keeping it completely livable is what makes him a truly talented designer. Some of Barclays most recognized and sought-after products in the marketplace are fabrics, furnishings, carpets, lighting, wall art, bedding and decorative accessories. With his ever-expanding brand, he has gained a significant following in the media. He is the author of two previous books: Living in Style and Living on the Coast. We long for it in the dead of winter and it rarely disappoints. Long, lazy days spent outside and warm nights are aplenty. Back doors are left open more often than they are closed and scheduled routines are nonexistent. There seems to be time enough for everything and everyone and then some. And that is why I strive for literal timelessness with regard to the design and installation of summer-centric retreats. Heavy drapery is dispatched in favor of sheer gauzes, semitransparent roman shades or blinds of bamboo. Darkly stained hardwoods on floors and furnishings are eschewed in favor of pine and blonde woods along with the simpler, less solid and more easily moved rattans and wickers. I also like to minimize the sharp distinction between indoors and outdoors and maximize the likelihood of impromptu al fresco entertaining. There is plenty of room for corals and sea fans and collected shells. Beach glass and maritime artifacts are among the ample seating and carefree tabletops I like to employ around these rooms. Soft laundered linens, crisp cottons and colorful nautical flags really celebrate this relaxed approach to the dog days of summer, where the goal is one of unbroken comfort without the need for a beginning or an end.
